SUBJECT DESCRIPTION

This subject is essential for people of the profession to better appreciate such values as social commitment, based on respect, the common good, solidarity, social justice and an openness to those in need. These values will be able to be expressed in the social work carried out in an Association provided by the University.

SKILLS

Basic Skills

Students must have demonstrated knowledge and understanding in an area of study that is founded on general secondary education. Moreover, the area of study is typically at a level that includes certain aspects implying knowledge at the forefront of its field of study, albeit supported by advanced textbooks

Students must be able to apply their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional manner and possess skills that can typically be demonstrated by coming up with and sustaining arguments and solving problems within their field of study

Students must have the ability to gather and interpret relevant data (usually within their field of study) in order to make judgments that include reflections on pertinent social, scientific or ethical issues

Students must be able to convey information, ideas, problems and solutions to both an expert and non-expert audience

Students must have developed the learning skills needed to undertake further study with a high degree of independence

General Skills

To develop the skill of responsible, critical, reflective, analytical and synthetic thought.

To recognise the importance of the social and environment elements of one's professional and business activity and of the need for a professional code of ethics.

To consider the activities related to the profession from an international viewpoint and develop attitudes of interest, respect and dialogue with other nationalities, cultures and religions in search of the truth.

Specific skills

To identify with the mission of the University, of the company and of personal projects

To identify and appreciate the metaphysical and anthropological essence of ethics and to define moral experience, its specific nature and its essential characteristics.

To understand the workings of the company as an organisation that creates, makes efforts and creates value for its stakeholders, always being aware of the importance of the social and environmental dimensions of its activity.
