SUBJECT DESCRIPTION

In the current process of educational renewal, Teaching is understood to be one of the great skills required by educators with a view to guaranteeing a teaching-learning process. This is not random, however, and includes: a creativity development process, innovation, understanding and skills resulting from an exchange in which students are a significant active factor of discovery and the teacher a model and mediator with the surrounding reality.

SKILLS

Basic Skills

Students must have demonstrated knowledge and understanding in an area of study that is founded on general secondary education. Moreover, the area of study is typically at a level that includes certain aspects implying knowledge at the forefront of its field of study, albeit supported by advanced textbooks

Students must be able to apply their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional manner and possess skills that can typically be demonstrated by coming up with and sustaining arguments and solving problems within their field of study

Students must have the ability to gather and interpret relevant data (usually within their field of study) in order to make judgments that include reflections on pertinent social, scientific or ethical issues

Students must be able to convey information, ideas, problems and solutions to both an expert and non-expert audience

Students must have developed the learning skills needed to undertake further study with a high degree of independence

General Skills

To be familiar with the syllabus areas for primary education, the interdisciplinary relationship between them, assessment criteria and the body of didactic knowledge applicable to teaching and learning procedures.

To be familiar with and apply information and communication technologies in the classroom. To selectively discern audio-visual information contributing to learning, civic training and cultural richness.

To understand the role, possibilities and limits of education in today's society and the core skills that affect early childhood education schools and professionals. To be familiar with quality improvement models implemented in schools.

To design, plan and evaluate teaching and learning processes, both individually and in cooperation with other teachers and school professionals.

Specific skills

To be familiar with the historical evolution of the education system in our country and the political and legislative constraints of educational activity.

To be familiar with interaction and communication processes in the classroom.

To design, plan and assess teaching activity and learning in the classroom.

To analyse and understand the educational processes inside and outside school for students aged 6-12 years.

To be familiar with the basics of primary education.
