SKILLS

Basic Skills

Students must have demonstrated knowledge and understanding in an area of study that is founded on general secondary education. Moreover, the area of study is typically at a level that includes certain aspects implying knowledge at the forefront of its field of study, albeit supported by advanced textbooks

Students must be able to apply their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional manner and possess skills that can typically be demonstrated by coming up with and sustaining arguments and solving problems within their field of study

Students must have the ability to gather and interpret relevant data (usually within their field of study) in order to make judgments that include reflections on pertinent social, scientific or ethical issues

Students must be able to convey information, ideas, problems and solutions to both an expert and non-expert audience

Students must have developed the learning skills needed to undertake further study with a high degree of independence

General Skills

To develop analytical, synthetic, reflective, critical, theoretical and practical thought.

To independently assess and evaluate knowledge, values and public and private social institutions.

Specific skills

To expand on the importance and universality of the religious phenomenon in various cultures and to appreciate the link between Judaism and Christianity and the originality and specificity of Christian Religion.

To promote Bible reading and handling of biblical texts: symbols, literary genres, contexts and religious intentionality in texts.

To present basic biblical theology using the major topics of salvation and to help understand the progressive revelation of God culminating with Jesus Christ, Word made flesh.

To provide an up-to-date summary of the essential content of Christian faith.
