SKILLS

Basic Skills

Students must have demonstrated knowledge and understanding in an area of study that is founded on general secondary education. Moreover, the area of study is typically at a level that includes certain aspects implying knowledge at the forefront of its field of study, albeit supported by advanced textbooks

Students must be able to apply their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional manner and possess skills that can typically be demonstrated by coming up with and sustaining arguments and solving problems within their field of study

Students must have the ability to gather and interpret relevant data (usually within their field of study) in order to make judgments that include reflections on pertinent social, scientific or ethical issues

Students must be able to convey information, ideas, problems and solutions to both an expert and non-expert audience

Students must have developed the learning skills needed to undertake further study with a high degree of independence

General Skills

To be familiar with the different fields of application of psychology and have the skills to influence and promote the quality of life and social commitment of individuals, groups, communities and organisations in the different educational, clinical and health, work and organisational, and social and community contexts.

To be familiar with the characteristics defining an efficient psychology professional: up-to-date professional knowledge (knowing how to select and manage information in both Spanish and other languages, especially English), critical thinking, ethics, personal integrity and social commitment to universal and democratic values.

To be familiar with the fundamentals of the social dimension of human beings.

Cross Skills

Ethical commitment and social improvement.

An ability to think creatively and come up with new ideas and concepts.

To nurture an attitude of intellectual curiosity and a quest for the truth in all areas of life.

To be able to approach a subject by means of rigorous, profound and comprehensive thought.

To correctly engage with university work tools: text commentary, analysis, summary and the preparation of a research project.

To identify the process of personal accomplishment and the goals to be attained by organising a plan of action to this end.

To be able to correctly express oneself in writing in Spanish and in another language, preferably English.

Specific skills

To be familiar with the social dimension of humankind: socialisation process and family, school, socio-cultural and historical influences.

Social pathologies: fanaticism, collectivism, provisionalism and fatalism.

To define attitudes of leadership and social responsibility both on a personal and professional level.
