SUBJECT DESCRIPTION

This subject has as its main objective that of providing the students with the necessary knowledge to attend to school children with a specific educational need derived from motor and sensory disability, allowing them to be competent as they develop professionally. The course therefore offers content which enables students to understand and identify the needs of these children and to avail of the resources necessary for the required educational intervention in each event. This is undertaken in collaboration with other professionals involved with a view to providing the help, strategies and adaptations necessary for the complete development of children in their care.

SKILLS

Basic Skills
Students must have demonstrated knowledge and understanding in an area of study that is founded on general secondary education. Moreover, the area of study is typically at a level that includes certain aspects implying knowledge at the forefront of its field of study, albeit supported by advanced textbooks.

Students must be able to apply their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional manner and possess skills that can typically be demonstrated by coming up with and sustaining arguments and solving problems within their field of study.

Students must have the ability to gather and interpret relevant data (usually within their field of study) in order to make judgments that include reflections on pertinent social, scientific or ethical issues.

Students must be able to convey information, ideas, problems and solutions to both an expert and non-expert audience.

Students must have developed the learning skills needed to undertake further study with a high degree of independence.
